Six families lived in the building, three on each side.

Several policemen heard him and ran to the place. They arrived with the firemen but already the place was in flames. It burned like a strawstack. Charles Fass, a butcher, who with his family lived on the second floor, heard the janitor Jelling, and picking up his 4-year-old child, Josephine, ran out and down the rickety old fire escape. He made frantic efforts to get back for his wife and other children but the fire was already shooting from the windows and he was cut off. His wife ran to the window and threw out Isaac, the 5-year-old poy. A policeman caught the lad and he was un-

The firemen took several girls from the third story front windows while others escaped from the rear by means of fire escapes. Ernest Lizette, a laster, was smothered to death on the third floor.

The Coal Operators Accede to All Demands Made by Them.

occupied by the Witchell Bros. Co., Nothing Now Remains But for the Men to Return to Work as Soon as Notices Are Posted By the Colliery Managers.

> Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—The great strike of the anthracite mine workrs' of Pennsylvania which began September 17, practically ended Wednesday when the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co. and the Lehigh Valey Coal Co. agreed to abolish the sliding scale in their respective regions and to grant an advance in vages of ten per cent. net, the advance to remain in operation until April 1, 1901, or thereafter. This acion meets the demands of the Scranon miners' convention. The decision was arrived at after a conference between representatives of the individual coal operators and the large coal carrying companies. The conference began Tuesday.

Wednesday's action was the culmination of the recent meeting of the individual operators at Scranton following the mine workers' convention in the same city. Nearly all the collieries in the coal region had previous to the mine workers' convention posted notices granting an advance of ten per cent. The mine workers in considering this demanded that the sliding scale in the Lehigh and Schuylkill districts be abolished, the increase to be guaranteed until April 1, 1901, and all other differences to be submitted to arbitration. The individual operators agreed to everything and the appointment of a committee to induce the Reading the foreign governments has yet and Lehigh Cos. to abolish the slidnamed its members of the tribunal, ing scale and make the wage increase permanent followed.

> It is conceded that the result of Wednesday's conference is a complete victory for the men. All the demands of their convention are acceded to and as one of the individual operators put it after the conference, the operators go a little further in agreeing to maintain the wage advance after April 1. This same operator, who requested that his name be not used said, in speaking of the confer-

> "It's all up to the miners now. We have agreed to everything, and nothing remains but for them to return to work as soon as the notices are posted by the colliery managers. These notices will be practically similar to the Reading Co.'s notice, the phraseology only being changed.

"I look for a resumption of operations by Monday at the latest. The conference was entirely harmonious and every phase of the strike situation was gone over."

Just how soon the official order notifying the men that the strike is ssued by President Mitchell can only be conjectured. It is believed here that no order to return will be issued until a notice similar to or in line with that of the Reading and Lehigh Cos. is posted at all the mines.

PRINCE HOHENLOHE.

The German Chancellor Tendered Resignation and It Was Accepted By the Emperor.

Berlin, Oct. 18.—The Kolnische Zeitung asserts that Prince Hohenlohe has tendered his resignation as imperial chancellor and that it has been accepted.

According to the same authority Emperor William has designated as the retiring chancellor's successor Count Von Buelow, minister of foreign affairs.

Although rumors had been current for several days that Prince Hohenlohe intended to retire, little credence was given to any of them, since such reports had returned periodically for several years past.

The fact is that neither the foreign officers nor any other government department in Berlin knew until Wednesday evening of Prince Hohenlohe's retirement, and Emperor William's approval of it.

The reason which induced the prince to insist upon retiring were, in the main, his rapidly growing infirmities and his distinct disapproval of the emperor's personal policy in China. To his intimates, Prince Hohenlohe, during the last three months, has repeatedly expressed strong criticisms upon what he has called the kaiser's "sentimental and impulsive interference in the troubles in Chi-

It was noted when the aggressive military movement was begun by Germany, and the expedithat Russia was among the powers which did not join the movement. The dispatch from St. Petersburg is looked upon as merely another step nearer to that when Russia withheld support from the Pao Ting Fu expedition and other aggressive military moves. Moreover, it is regarded as quite in consonance with the pacific tendencies of this government, which have been directed all along to securing a settlement by diplomatic means rather than by the sword.

HON. WILLIAM L. WILSON.

The Well-Known Democratic Statesman Died Suddenly at His Home in Lexington, Va.

Lexington, Va., Oct. 18.-Ex-Postmaster General Wm. L. Wilson died suddenly Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Hon. William Lyne Wilson was president of the Washington and Lee university, a position to which he was selected immediately after his retirement from the office of postmaster dispatch from St. Petersburg, indi- general. He was born in Jefferson county, Virginia, May, 3, 1843. He will be independent of the concert of was educationally thoroughly prethe powers, caused no surprise among pared, graduating from three col-

He entered the confederate army at the outbreak of the civil war. He tion against Pao Ting Fu started, attended the democratic convention in Cincinnati in 1880 as a delegate and was an elector-at-large on the Hancock ticket the same year. He resigned the presidency of the West Virginia university to accept the democratic nomination for representative in the 48th congress.

He served in that and each successive congress until the 54th, when he was defeated. He was chairman of the ways and means committee and carried through the house the measure repealing the purchasing clause of the Sherman law and the tariff bill that bore his name. He was president of the democratic convention in Chicago in 1892. He had frequently been mentioned as a candidate for the senate of the United States, and had been Tsung Li Yamen buildings, which, he urged to become a candidate for speaker of the house during his membership in congress. HON. JOHN SHERMAN.

The Aged Statesman Is Critically III -General Breakdown a Question of a Few Days.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Former Cabinet Officer and Senator John Sherman is dangerously ill at his resiattack has taken the form of a general collapse, in part due to the general debility incident to old age and to the effects of the serious illness which he suffered while on a trip to the West Indies two years ago. He nev-

Mrs. Sherman's death at the old homestead at Mansfield, O., where the family was staying during the summer, also had its effect upon the venerable statesman who deeply mourned her loss. Mr. Sherman returned to Washington several weeks ago from Mansfield and since then has been living in the family residence here.

He was then in feeble health but was able to take daily drives about the city. For the past week, however, he has been gradually growing Washington, Oct. 18 .- The French weaker and Tuesday and Wednesday tives in various parts of the country were notified of the change. Some of them are expected to come to the mediate danger of death and it is possible he may yet rally, if no further unfavorable symptoms occur. The ex-secretary is in his 78th year and

MURDER MYSTERY.

Man's Body, Decapitated and Denuded of the Limbs, in a Gunny Sack, Found in a Pond.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 18.—That great "trunk tragedy,' as it was known throughout all New England back in 1872, when the mutilated body of Jennie Clark was found wedged into a trunk which had been picked up in the Saugus river, was in some respects no more mysterious than the murder which was revealed Wednesday by the finding of a man's body, decapitated forces, left Sam Chun Wednesday and denuded of the limbs, in a gunny sack, in Glenmere pond. The police Wednesday night are inclined to the belief that George E. Bailey has been murdered, and have taken under arrest John C. Best, 32 years of age, a farm hand, employed on the estate of which the supposed victim of the murder was caretaker. The police, in searching the Breakhart hill farm houses, where the men live, found in the barn cellar an ax which bore blood stains, but it is not certain they are of human blood, similar stains on a window sill and on a piece of cardboard in a room of the house. Bailey disappeared on Octo-

Trains Collide.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18 .- A southbound passenger train on the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroad collided north of Petersburg with a freight train, and Thomas Wiley, of Peoria, express messenger, was probably fatally injured. Capt. W. H. Weaver, of Petersburg; Conductor T. F. Covington and Postal Clerk Barker, both of Peoria, were badly injured. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train saved their lives by jumping.

Quarantine Raised.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 18.-Gov. Stanley issued a proclamation Wednesday raising the quarantine which was established March 1, 1900, to prohibit the shipments of uninspected cattle to Kansas from the eastern and middle states.

Sailed for New York.

Paris, Oct. 18 .- Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador at Washington, and his niece; Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer, and Miss Fanchon Thompson, the opera singer, sailed Wednesday for New York from Cherbourg.

Defendant is Still Very Ill and Lies Prostrate.

The Defense Closes Its Case, and It Will Soon Be in the Hands of the Jury-Jim Howard Takes the Stand.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 16.-The Youtsey trial was resumed Monday although Youtsey was reported in the same condition as last week. His room door was opened and his bed pulled up in plain view and hearing of the jury, and while the witnesses were being examined Youtsey could be heard calling his wife's name in a hollow, moaning voice and could be seen tossing on his bed. Of course the feature of the day was the testimony of Arthur Goebel, the brother of the murdered man. He told of going to the jail the day Youtsey was arrested and that Youtsey confessed to giving the cartridges to Jim Howard, but would not tell who fired the Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 17.-If Henry Youtsey heard a word uttered in his trial Tuesday, he gave not the slightest indication of it by any movement of the hands, head, eyes or lips. So far as any one in the courtroom could tell, he never uttered a word all day.

He was the unconscious actor in another realistic scene Tuesday afternoon when he was brought into the courtroom proper, lying on his bed. His eyes and mouth were lightly closed and he looked every whit a dead man, while Col. Nelson in a loud voice asked nim how old he was and where he lived.

Mrs. Mattie Stamper, sister of Wharton Golden, said she heard him say he was to get $5,000 for his testimony, and that he made a confession in order to save his neck and Gov. Taylor's. C. O. Reynolds and D. R. Walcutt, of Frankfort, swore that Culton told them that he had a contract with the commonwealth to secure immunity. Porter Thompson, sr., and Porter Thompson, jr., said they passed through the hall of the executive building a few minutes before the shooting, but saw no men in the hall. John W. Davis, one of those indicted with Culton, corroborated the Thompsons.

James Chipley, of Scott county, said Culton told him that Wharton Golden had caused all of them to get into trouble because Golden wanted a part of the $100,000.

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 18.-Judge Cantrill convened court promptly at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Youtsey's condition, despite Tuesday's experiences, is better. A consulation of physicians was held Wednesday morning, after which Dr. Knox said:

"Youtsey is better this morning. He slept well Tuesday night and made no demonstration whatever. Stories of the prisoner suffering from lock-jaw are false. He took nourishment Wednesday morning, and his general condition is much improved."

Georgetown, Ky., Oct. 18 .-- Youtsey's condition Wednesday night was much worse. He had another paroxysm, and is unable to take nourishment except hyperdermically.

In the trial Wednesday Prof. J. J. Rucker, teacher and civil engineer, of Georgetown, testified as to his measurements from the window of Powers' office to the hackberry tree, and said if the bullet fell 11-16 inches in passing through Goebel's body, estimating the distance at one foot, that the bullet must have started from a point nine feet above the window sill in Powers' office, but that if the shot was fired from the second-story window, the bullet would have passed many feet over Goebel's head, if it had fallen 1 13-16 inches to the foot.

James Howard testified that he was the same Howard who was recently tried and convicted for the murder of William Goebel; that he never saw Youtsey in his life to know him; never. had any talk at any time with Youtsey, nor did he accompany Youtsey to any place or room anywhere at any time; that he was not in Caleb Powers' office on the morning of January 30, or in any other room in that building on that morning. On cross-examination he said he had been convicted of murdering George Baker in Clay county; had secured a new trial, and went to Frankfort on January 20 to secure a pardon from Taylor; that he was in the Board of Trade hotel when Goebel was shot.

The defense in the Youtsey trial closed its case late Wednesday afternoon, and the commonwealth began its rebuttal testimony, which will likely be concluded Thursday.

The feature of the day was the testimeny of Col. Nelson, one of Youtsey's attorneys, who denied that he had told Arthur Goebel and Col, Campbell that "Youtsey knew enough to hang Gov. Taylor," but admitted that he did say his client (Youtsey) knew "something that would be very beneficial to the commonwealth in its prosecution of Taylor."

Sir Alfred Milner at Pretoria. Pretoria, Oct. 17.-Sir Alfred Milner, who it is announced will be appointed governor of the conquered republics, has arrived here. He was met by Lord Roberts at the railway station and was assigned a house nearby as headquarters.

Mail for Canadian Yukon Country. Washington, Oct. 17 .- The post office department has given notice that until spring no mail matter except letters will be sent to the Canadian Yukon country or to American post offices north of the Yukon river.

Woodson's Predictions.

National Democratic Committeeman Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, just after a conference with Chairman Jones, says: "There is no doubt about Bryan carrying Kentucky. The Republicans have not the slightest hope of winning, although they pretend to have. Their hopelessness is best shown by the factthat they are trading off votes on the electoral college for Governor. All their effort is on carrying the State for Yerkes. I believe Yerkes will run a ewes. Nearly all black faces.

BISHOP HIBLER & BRO. little ahead of McKinley, but it will not amount to more than 5,000 votes at most. Bryan will carry the State by at least 15,000. So Yerkes has no chance to win out. In some sections Beckham will run even stronger than Bryan. Take my home. Owensboro, for nstance. Gov. Beckham will soon man v a very pretty Owensboro girl, and he town is going to vote practically sold for the girl. There are hundreds of McKinley-Beckham votes there."

The following distinguished speakers are expected to be present: John W. Keller, of New York City, Gov. J. W. C. Beckham, Hon. South Trimble, Hon. W. B Moody and Judge James D. Black. The committee is making great preparations and a large crowd is expected.

David B. Hill's Prediction.

"I think the indications are most favorable. Ibelieve that New York and the "WALK-OVER" SHOE for Indiana will be found side by side in men and the "BOURBON BELLE" the Democratic column. In New York SHOE for women are our leaders. Democrats and whatever else you wish You can't make a mistake when you to call them, are working barmoniously buy these, to carry the State. CHAPTER XVI.—CONTINUED.

Instinctively Dean put forth his hand under the dripping poncho and tugged at the straps of his off saddlebag. No need for dread on that score. The bulky package, wrapped, sealed and corded, was bulging out of the side of his field pouch that it looked as though he had crammed a cavalry boot into its maw.

"Thirty men-mounted?-no wagons or - anything?" he anxiously asked.

"Full thirty, sir, and every man armed with a rifle as far as I could see," said Carey, "and if it was us they was after, they'd have had us at their mercy down in that pocket at

And then came the cry again.

"I tell you it is, by God! for there goes another!"

All eyes followed the direction of the pointing finger. All eyes saw, even though dimly, the saddled form of a horse plunging and struggling in the flood, making vain effort to clamber out, then whirling helplessly awayswept out of sight around the shoulder of the bluff, and borne down on the tossing waves of the torrent. CHAPTER XVII.

That storm-burst along the range had turned for 24 hours every mountain stream into a foaming torrent for a hundred miles. Not a bridge remained along the Platte. Not a ford was fordable within two days' march of either Emory or Frayne. Not a courier crossed the Box Elder, going either way, until the flood went down, and then it transpired that a tide in the affairs of men had also turned, and that there was trouble ahead for some who had thought to find plain sailing. For two days watchers along the lower Box Elder dragged out upon the shallows the lacking other bodies to prove that not Uncle Sam's men, much as two, at least, of the drowned had been a week before. What the denizens of Gate City and Fort Emory dreaded and expected to hear was that Dean and his little party had been caught in the trap. But, living or dead, not a sign of them remained along the storm-swept ravine. What most people of Gate City and Fort Emory could not understand was the evidence that a big gang of horse thieves, desperadoes and renegades had suddenly appeared about the new town, had spurred away northward in the night, had kept the Frayne road till they reached the Box Elder, riding hard long after sunup, and there, reenforced, they had gone westward to the Sweetwater trail, and, old frontiersmen though they were, had been caught in the whirl of water at Canon Springs, losing two of their number and at least a dozen of their horses. What could have lured them into that gloomy rift at such a time? What inspiration had led Dean out of it?

them afoot, bedraggled, silent, chagrined, the "outfit" described by Trooper Carey had slunk away from the neighborhood of the Box Elder as soon as the storm subsided. Solemnly, as befitted soldiers, silent and alert despite their dripping accoutrements, the little detachment of cavalry had pushed ahead, riding by compass over the drenched uplands, steering for the Sweetwater. Late in the afternoon the skies had cleared, the sun came out and they camped in a bunch of cottonwoods on the old Casper trail and slept the sleep of the just their Maker at such times, even in sol- and the weary. The Alaska Pirate

By Charles E. Brimblecom.

ATE in the summer of 1897 I arrived in San Francisco seeking my fortune. For many days I vainly asked for employment as a salesman, bookkeeper or bank clerk, for I felt competent for almost anything, having just graduated from the high school. The mall sum of money I possessed began to shrink alarmingly, and my gorgeous dreams to wear a sickly and faded hue. One day while walking one of the principal streets I saw in gilt letters on the upper windows of a large building the words: "Detective Agency." A brilliant thought came to me, putting said, bo'dly. "The Gadfly may sail at to flight my temporary discourage- any time now that they have their pow-

"I would like to get employment as a detective," I replied.

"I'm the chief," he said. "But you're almost too young for the business, me boy. It takes expayrience, and plenty of sand, and often a handy knowledge of gun fighting to be a detective."

"I wish you'd try me, sir," I said, courageously. "I'm young, but I can ing to avoid turning pale.

"Very well," he said, approvingly, and loud talking. "Now, of course, you've heard all about the Klondike gold mines. They're very rich, and the steamers that come from there are every one of them loaded dollars. Now, there are train robbers the sea, and what finer haul for a pirate, do you think, than one of those Alaska steamers loaded down with gold dust and nuggets?

"I suspect that there's a bloody band of pirates fitting out an expedition right here in San Francisco for the purpose of capturing some of those steamers. I want you to go out and discover them if you can. Find out where their vessel is and how big a crew she carries, and all about it. One found floating in the bay to-morrow. Good-by, and good luck to you."

I walked along the wharves very but everything about them seemed my patrol, and at last, at a small, remore wharf, I found a steam schooner permitted to go on her way. bound for Alaska. Her name was the sail that very afternoon.

Something about the craft, I do not know why, aroused my suspicions. The sailors were as busy as ants loading provisions and stores. I approached of amazement. "How did this dog and tried to engage one of them in conversation, but he repulsed me in a rude and surly manner. A large new of the passengers," replied the capdeckhouse had been built on the tain. schooner, evidently to accommodate quite a number of men.

Even at that retired place there were a few idlers gazing and gossiping. I joined them, and sat down on an overturned boat, determined to watch his will, and taken before the chief. everything that occurred. my assistants would dare to usurp my authority in that manner, and especially to place such an important matter as this purports to be in young and inexperienced hands."

"But there is no time to lose, sir," I der on board."

He stepped to the telephone and

"Is that Capt. Marden? Has the steam schooner Gadfly sailed? Just left the wharf? Well, I have reason to believe that all is not right on board. Signal the revenue cutter to stop her and send a boat on board. I will come down at once. Good-by.'

"Now come with me," said the chief. We will go on board the Gadfly and see what is wrong there. Afterward I must solve the mystery of the man who sent you on that errand."

But before we quitted the office he telephoned to someone asking if 'Robert had come home yet." And I thought he looked very much worried at the answer.

We drove rapidly to the water front. The chief roused the boatman at the boat landing, and in a few minutes we Are you willing to take your life in were tossing on the choppy bay in search of the Gadfly. We soon found "Yes, sir," I answered, seriously, try- her in the stream with her engines stopped, and there was some confusion

We climbed on board, where we found an officer and a boat's crew from the revenue cutter, surrounded by a crowd of the passengers and with gold-millions and millions of crew. The chief, in an undertone, soon explained to the lieutenant the on the land, and there are pirates on suspicious circumstances in regard to the vessel.

> "Captain," said the lieutenant, turning suddenly to the master of the Gadfly, "let us take a look at those 30 barrels."

The captain was very reluctant, but he had to accompany the lieutenant below, where it was soon discovered that the 30 barrels contained whisky instead of gunpowder.

It is against the federal law to take intoxicating liquors into Alaska, and false move, and likely as not you'll be as the Gadfly was bound for that territory it was evident that an infraction of the law was intended. So the 30 barrels were hoisted out into boats much on the alert. "I have a good joke on myself," said the business man whose hobby is agriculture, says the Detroit Free Press. "My mind has Although extremely puzzled, I hastsays the Detroit Free Press. "My mind has always had a particular preference for seeds and roots, and I never miss an opportunity to indulge this fancy. Some time ago, in looking through an old tool box, I came across several peculiar looking seeds that at once aroused my interest. They were a little different from anything that I had discovered during my floricultural and agricultural experience and I desided to plant tural experience, and I decided to plant them and see what the product would be. Well, I did so, and for weeks I waited to see the strange fruit, flower or vegetable plant make an appearance, carefully nur-turing the soil, and giving my pet bulbs the closest attention

Discouraged at length at their failure to part the soil and spring into life, I dug them up, and what do you suppose was the discovery that I made? Why, that my interesting and peculiar bulbs were nothing more nor less than those little bicycle balls that are an important part of the steel steed's mechanism. They had been laid away in the toolbox, and their size and rusted appearance made them resemble seeds. My wife and some of my intimate friends seem to think there is no excuse for such a ludicrous thing to happen to a man that has made a study of plants and bulbs, and they are never done chaffing me and asking me when I expect to gather my crop of bicycles."
